

A Revolutionary and Unique Shade System

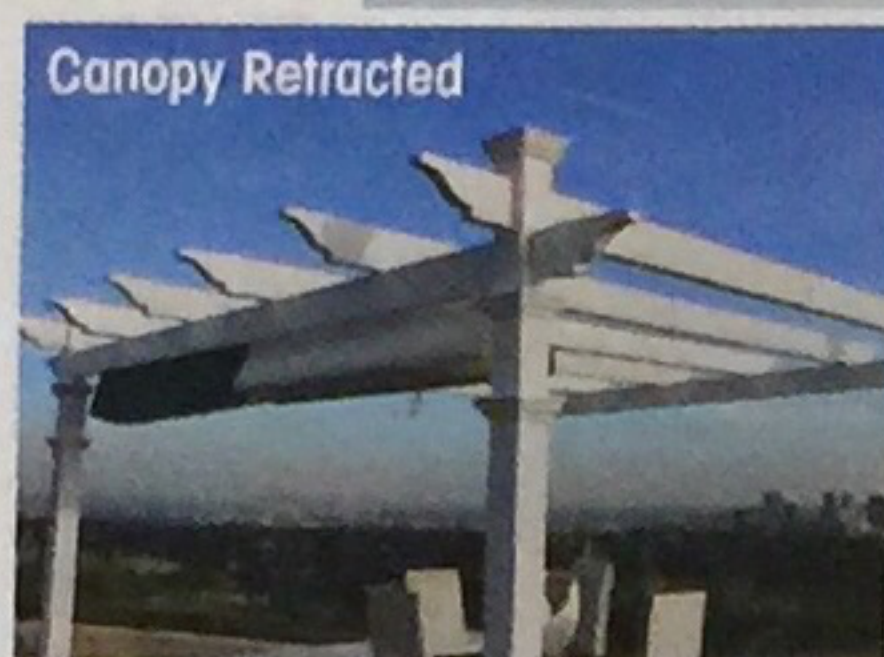

Custom-made canopies have their perks, however they can also become an additional source of stress. For example, to fit properly, they require precise pre-measurement, fabric and color selection, weeks of fabrication and finally installation. Once installed the custom canopies can't be modified and any repairs (if possible) require a trip back to the shop.

Now, there is an innovative new product on the market that provides homeowners with a retractable shade system that is infinitely versatile, customizable, and adaptable. Infinity Canopy is a modular slide on wire canopy composed of individual shade panels that are connected together by a marine grade stainless steel and aluminum parts. It can be installed on pergolas or between two opposing structures. The shade panels are available in a variety of colors and made of the highest quality outdoor fabrics including Phifertex® and Sunbrella® that are resistant to water, fire, mold, fading and can last five-to-ten years. They can be ordered in one or multiple colors and placed in different configurations to create unique designs that are simply not possible by any other shade system for those ever-changing tastes, styles and needs.

You can lock individual panels in place, or remove panels for open space.

You can also add vertical panels to either or both ends for additional shade and privacy.

Unlike traditional shade products, Infinity Canopy can be modified even after it is assembled and installed. You can add or remove sections and panels to increase or decrease the width and length of the canopy, change the canopy's color and design, replace damaged sections with replacement parts and panels, and even remove the entire canopy or the panels for cleaning and winterization, in just minutes.

Infinity Canopy was designed with the goal to make the beautiful slide-on wire canopy style available to homeowners in an infinitely versatile and adaptable system.
